St. Ambrose Church Hold Annual Meeting

Financial Statement Showed A Favorable Balance

The annual general meeting of parishioners was held on Monday last. The financial statement for the year was presented and showed a very favorable balance on the year's administration.

Mr. R. Cann was appointed Vicar's Warden for 1938 and Mr. F. V. Britt was elected Peoples' Varden Delegates to Synod. Messrs. R. Cann, A. E. Sanderson and F. V. Britt.

It was decided to arrange a committee to be responsible for the re-decoration of the Parish Hall and this was left in the hands of the workshop committee with power to co-operate as necessary. It was also decided to make plans for the erection of a Church bell and as the bell is a very large and heavy one, a committee was formed to obtain estimates as to costs of a brick construction bell tower to match the present building. The plans call for a base 11 feet square with a tower 32 feet high surmounted by a spire 16 feet from base to finials.

Mrs. Sanderson was re-elected as Red Cross Representative and Mr. Sanderson envelope secretary. Thanks to the labors of the envelope Secretary, there was a marked improvement in envelope subscriptions.

Towards the close of the meeting a presentation was made to a organist by Mr. Britt (people's worship) and the thanks of the meeting tendered for her services during the year.

Motions of thanks were recorded to all who had assisted in any way during the year.

Life Insurance Means Much to Policy Holders

Third of Men and Women Have Savings Invested

London, Ont., Jan. 17th. In reviewing the record in life insurance in Canada during the past year, Mr. G. Wilson Geddes, President of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association and General Manager and Actuary of the Northern Life Assurance Company, pointed out that a single subject was of so much material interest to so many people as that of life insurance.

In which more than one-third of the men and women of the country had their savings so safely invested.

These 3,500,000 policyholders, at the end of 1937, were protected against the two great hazards of life — premature death and penurious old age — by approximately $6,900,000,000 of life insurance then in force in the greatest co-operative and democratic business in Canada.

Behind this protection stands as at Dec. 31st, 1937 over $2,000,000,000 of assets owned by the policy holders and invested for them in Dominion, Provincial and Municipal securities, in first mortgages on carefully selected city, town and farm properties, in public utility bonds in loan debentures, etc. In this way the savings of more than 3,500,000 thrifty citizens have served the nation's best interests by financing many a worthy public and private enterprise, and by thus stimulating employment in the years of economic depression.

Hat Chamber of Commerce Has Formed A Brief

Sub-committees to compile information concerning the indirect benefits are being formed into a brief by the chamber's legal adviser, G. M. Blackstock, K.C., and will be presented to the federal government at an early date for endorsement.

This project, if accepted, will put 150,000 acres of dry land north west of Medicine Hat under water at an approximate cost of 24 millions of dollars.

Of the 105 resolutions placed before the Social Credit convention last week, 48 were discussed and 27 adopted and 11 defeated, the remainder being referred back. One resolution asked that constituencies be allowed to nominate their own candidates for provincial and federal elections but was not discussed.

In our last issue we made a mistake in the members of the School Board who are retiring this year. Those who have filled their terms are Mrs. Stone Mr. Vogstad and Mr. Ballantyne. We understand that all three have been requested to run again this year.

Our Huge Foreign Trade

Was Well Over Billion Dollars In Seven Months

It seems but yesterday (it was just before the war) that Canada's total foreign trade reached the billion dollar mark in a year. All of us thought then (the announcement, we remember, brought a great cheer in the House of Commons) that a billion-dollar-a-year trade meant a tremendous prosperity, putting us on the map as a great trading nation.

Well, Canada's trade in seven months of last year (the fiscal year) is well over a billion dollars. Actually, this country did no much trade in six months of last year as it did in a whole year just before the war. The thing seems almost unbelievable, yet every day more than $3,000,000 worth of goods are shipped out of Canada; either carried on trains across the border into the United States, or loaded on ships and sent practically to every country in the world. No nation or race is so remote that we fail to sell it something, and one imagines, looking over a list of the peoples we trade with, that Canadian products are as well known now as any on earth. For a country of but eleven millions, an insignificant fraction of the world's population—it is all a pretty substantial achievement.

British countries buy most from us. The United States is our best single customer, and is a mighty buyer, yet its purchases do not quite equal the combined demand of all the British peoples. To the United Kingdom alone our sales are enormous, running a fairly close second to what we sell the United States. Going over the figures of trade generally, the most impressive thing found is the tremendous proportion of our trade with the English-speaking countries: the British Empire and the United States. It brings realization of the vast proportion of the world's trade that will be involved in the proposed Anglo-American and Canada-United States Agreement. The year 1933 was our best year to date, and the most prosperous this country has known—Ottawa Journal.

Defied Superstition

Actor Told On Glens Worn By William Shakespeare

Maurice Evans, Shakespearean actor, defied superstition and tried on a pair of gloves worn by William Shakespeare. Dating to about 1590, they are part of the Horace Howard Mansel memorial collection at the University of Pennsylvania Library. C. Seymour Thompson, University librarian, told Mr. Evans that, according to tradition, "any one who wears the gloves will die within a year."

"Superstition," he added, "has clung to the gauntlets during their possession by a number of families since Shakespeare's death. I am not bothered by the superstition."

"I feel, however," he added, "seriously, that this is a sacrifice."

Denmark Heads List

Is Easily First As Exporter Of Bacon And Ham

As in the case of many other commodities, world trade in bacon and hams bears no relationship to the production of the different countries. Denmark, though low on the list in point of the number of hogs kept, is easily first as an exporter of bacon and hams. The industry in that country is on an extensive scale, a degree not approached elsewhere. In 1934, for example, according to the Imperial Economic Committee, there were in Canada about 38 pigs per 100 inhabitants; in the United States only 10, but in Denmark as many as 100 per 100 inhabitants—Canadian Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Wish Was Gratified

All her life Marian Smith, co-nave who claimed to be 147 years old, said: "I hope the white folk stand by me when I die like they always have through my life." When she died, virtually the entire population of Gatesville, N.C., attended the funeral. County Judge A. P. Gowdin and several white ministers conducted the services. Six white men were pallbearers.

Bill: "You know, this is the shortest book I've ever read."

John: "That so?"

Bill: "Yes, it contains only one word."

John: "What's the book called?"

Bill: "Who's Who in Italy."

John: "Why didn't you tell me I had a dab of rouge on the tip of my nose?"

Robert: "How should a man know how you girls want to wear your complexion?"

Canada And Defence

Says Dominion Must Arm And Arm Quickly

John Bassett, president of the Gentile Printing Company of Montreal, told the Commercial Travellers' Association of Canada annual banquet at Toronto that "Canada is on the verge of the matter of defence and must arm and arm quickly."

"No Canadian wants to sponge on Great Britain when it comes to defence," he said. "I commend the Government for defence expenditures but deplore that there has not been enough spent and that the defence policy is one spread over a period of years."

"Trying rapidly in arming the Dominion," Mr. Bassett said: "Our enemies will strike with lightning quickness. British enemies are our enemies. Canada is within the range of aerial attacks from Europe. My own province of Quebec is in a more dangerous position possibly than any other part of the Dominion."

Mr. Bassett said he was not afraid of "any French-Canadian friend" opinion on the matter of defence if the issue is placed before them rightly.

"Quebec, notwithstanding noisy leaders who speak of a republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence, will continue as a part of the British Empire."

The Montreal publisher, discussing Federal Government finance, said he believed the Canadian people were well satisfied with the manner in which Finance Minister Charles Dunning handled the financial affairs of the Dominion.

"My friendship for Mr. Dunning does not prevent me feeling alarmed at the mounting debt structure in Canada," he said. "It is staggering in its immensity. When the citizens realize how this Dominion is being hamstrung there will be such a call for action that governments will be compelled to act."

Account Not Accurate

La Verendrye Not The First White Man To View Rockies

La Verendrye, French explorer credited by some historians as the first white man to see the Rocky Mountains in Canada, never got near the mountains, Dr. A. A. Morton, Saskatchewan University history professor, said at a Saskatoon Archaeological Society meeting.

As La Verendrye had not allowed for compass deviations, accounts of his journeys were not always accurate, Prof. Morton said.

Some years ago near Pierre, S. D., a tablet left by the explorer's son was uncovered and faithfully established that mountains referred to in the annals of the La Verendrye journey were the Black Hills of South Dakota, the professor claimed. The farthest west the Frenchman travelled was on a longitudinal parallel east of the forks of the Saskatchewan River, he said.

Not Proved Unfit

Magistrate Rules Old Eggs Good If Used For Cooking

When is an egg a good egg? The noblest before Judge D. A. Macpherson of Winnipeg, in Court as Abraham Malian, a produce dealer, appealed a $25 fine imposed by Magistrate T. J. Murray for selling eggs condemned by Government inspectors as unfit.

Two hundred testified they used the eggs for baking, they and their families had eaten the cakes and egg omelettes and had not suffered thereby. Judge Macpherson said the Chinese had been about the right time to eat eggs. Then too it seemed cooks of ancient times believed the older the egg the better the cake, the judge said, allowing the appeal on grounds the eggs had not been proved unfit.

Cash-And-Carry Idea

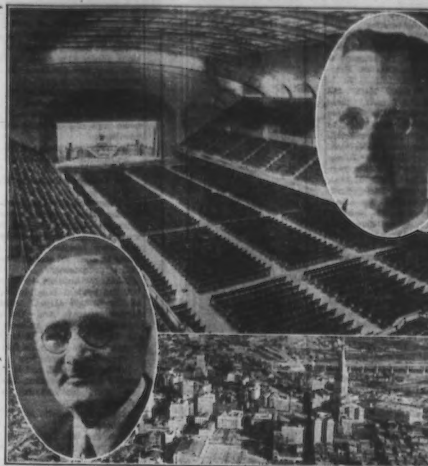

Could Very Well Be Used In Our's Private Attitude

If we could get something of the cash-and-carry idea into not merely our private but our public attitude, our public man would find their burden eased, and our taxpayers, their own situation not so threatening. Public clamor, from whatever quarter it comes, for increased spending with empty and inflated checkbooks, means only that we ourselves are shooting for more burdens to be imposed upon ourselves as well as involving bankruptcy—Halifax Chronicle.

CANADA PREPARES TO PARTICIPATE IN WORLD'S POULTRY CONGRESS

Preliminary arrangements in connection with Canada's participation in the World's Poultry Congress, to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, July 25 to August 5, 1935, were discussed at a recent meeting of the Canadian Committee of which H. B. Donovan, Toronto (top right) is chairman, and F. C. Elford (lower right), former Dominion Poultry Husbandman, is Special Poultry Commissioner. Photos show a general view of Cleveland from the site while the top picture shows the interior of the Cleveland Public Auditorium where the World's Poultry Congress will be held. It is expected that thirty countries will be represented at the Congress, which met in Ottawa in 1927, and in Leipzig, Germany in 1934.

Carry Larger Parcels

Post Office Weight Limit To Be Increased To 25 Pounds

The post office department announced that the weight limit on parcel post would be raised from 15 to 25 pounds and that rates on parcels weighing more than the former 15-pound limit would be proportionately higher.

Officials explained the increase in the weight limit would require no additional delivery facilities as parcel post delivery is effected now by truck in urban centres and districts having rural delivery. In districts lacking delivery service all parcels are claimed by recipients calling at post offices for their mail, they said.

They explained also that no new arrangement was necessary between the department and the railways which carry the mail. The department, they said, will continue to pay the railways on the customary basis of mileage and car space occupied.

Will Reduce Noise

To reduce subway noise to a minimum, long sections of track in the London underground system are soon to be welded together, after many experiments in noise elimination, which included the fitting of tunnels with asbestos and sea grass the noise experts have determined that the best results are obtainable through welding of the rails into 270-foot sections.

University Of Manitoba

Dean Alfred Savage To Be Professor Of Animal Pathology

President Sydney H. Smith of the University of Manitoba announced several changes in the university's agricultural faculty.

He said Dean Alfred Savage resigned the deanship of the faculty but would continue on the staff of the university as professor of animal pathology and head of the department of bacteriology and animal pathology. Mr. Savage also will be employed by the Manitoba government without drawing pay from the university. Prof. Mitchener has been appointed acting dean of the faculty. He has been a teacher at the university since 1918.

Originated Phrase

Man Who First Referred To "The 400's" Died In New York

Charles Jerome Allen, 69, society editor of the New York Sun, who, with Ward McAllister, originated the descriptive phrase "the 400's," died, McAllister's casual remark in an interview with Allen that "there are only 400 people in New York that are really known" led to the widely-used term for society. Born in Monticello, N.Y., Mr. Allen went to New York as a boy and entered the newspaper profession as a reporter.

OLD CRYSTAL PALACE SITE STILL GOES BEGGING

It is a year since the famous Crystal Palace, London, was destroyed by one of the most spectacular fires with its burning monuments, and although several schemes were put forward to utilize the site nothing has developed. It has taken contractors a year to remove the 25,000 tons of debris from the site of the $7,000,000 building, and today the smell of shattered wood still rises from the ruins. At first the site was to be used for a hospital, then a museum, palace of agriculture, cathedral and so on, but the trust about it was still without a policy for the future. Above is a picture of the 1,800-foot ruins of the famous building.

Growth of Social Services

Danger That They May Be Used For Benefit of Political Parties

Danger that social services may be used for "the glorification of any political party" was stressed by Attorney General Gordon D. Coons, of Ontario, in an address to the Toronto YWCA Club.

"Beneficial and desirable as social services undoubtedly are, there is, nevertheless, the danger that in a democratic country such as ours, their extension and administration may not always be directed into the interests of the people to be served," he said.

"We must guard against any such tendency and make sure that under no circumstances and at no time shall these social services be used for the glorification or benefit of any political party."

Mr. Coons said those urging governments to undertake bigger and bigger social service programs should remind governments can only spend as much money as the taxpayers are asked to pay.

"Governments have no magical or mystical source of expense and they cannot create wealth by act of Parliament," he said. "The taxpayers are the only source of revenue, and it is they who have to bear all the burdens of taxation, whether their confidence be federal, provincial or municipal."

The Attorney General noted a tendency of social services to develop the characteristics of the movements growing at that time. There was a constant demand for increased and increased services, and it was necessary to advance with sound finance and stability.

Good For The Mind

Every Person Should Indulge Freely In Day Dreams

No person with a reasonable share of intelligence and human sympathy will find anything either to deplore or to be proud of in the suggestion of a speaker at the New Education Fellowship conference in Adelaide that he should be allowed to day-dream during the period for day-dreaming. Frequent relaxation is as necessary for the mind as for the muscles. Just as the eyes instinctively seek the softness of the beauty of outdoors as a relief from indoor concentration, so the soul seeks to wander into the realm of imagination. Nor should the human mind be restricted to school-rules. Everyone would be the better for giving the mind brief but frequent periods of freedom from regimentation. Human nature is not yet free from the old inhibition that it is an intellectual sin to permit the mind to wander.—Melbourne Argus.

Never Insulted

The young man was overjoyed at getting a letter from his traveling companion, as he had been out of work for many months, but by the time he had read the letter he was not so sure. He had reached Plymouth, he began to feel rather fitful.

"Well, you're getting on," insured an old hand at the game.

"Ready," was the reply. "I have been insulted at every place I have visited."

"That's strange," was the reply. "I've been on the road 40 years. I have had my samples hung into the street, have been taken by the scruff of the neck and hurled downstairs, and I don't deny that I have been rolled in the gutter. But insulted—never!"

Operates Three Mills

One of the three mills owned and operated by the United States government is located at Denver, Colo.,—the other two at Philadelphia and San Francisco. The collapse of money at Denver began in 1906. The mint cost the government $4,000,000. The gross income of the mint costs the government about $2,500,000 a year. The output consists entirely of coins.

A Good Suggestion

Lord Harder, physician-in-order to the King, urged cultivation of the intellect in a speech at Bath, England. "Then, according to Lord Harder, are intellect: Clear air to breathe; close contact with the sun and sky and sea; the sight of beautiful things; the hearing of beautiful sounds; and quiet and leisure to enjoy all these."

For The Simple Life

Getting ready for Winter now-days is a pretty complex process, what with changing to Winter gear, getting in the snow machine, and so forth. "In my day, it was simpler," says an elderly reader from New Brunswick. "We loaded out the bean pot and started up the backwater better and we were all set."

Execution of eight important officials of long standing in the Soviet regime was announced to take place on the 20th anniversary of the Russian secret political police. The announcement said they were shot for high treason.

Secretary of State Bernard Barre, in an address at Montreal, asserted the federal government would oppose resolution in any form to maintain peace and unity in Canada. To avert unrest, he urged Canadians to greater understanding between the provinces of the Dominion.

Board of Governors of McGill University, Montreal, announced they had received an anonymous donation of $50,000, one of the largest donations of its kind ever made to the university. Entirely unrestricted, the gift may be used for any purpose desired.

Most Powerful Lighthouse

Is To Be Masterpiece Of French Optical Science

What is declared to be the most powerful lighthouse in the world will be erected, within the next twelve months, on the island of Ouessant in the Atlantic ocean, some 100 miles west of Brest. It will replace the lighthouse at Creach, which has already seen years of service and the beam of which guides American troops on their way to France in 1917-18.

The new lighthouse, which will be a masterpiece of French optical science, will consist of a tower 50 feet high, surmounted by a search lantern, with revolving lamp, 40 feet in height. It will include two optical groups one for the red light and another, much more intense, for cloudy and foggy nights. The lights will have a total output of 200 million candle-power. Every ten seconds two moving beams will be visible, each lasting two tenths of a second. Sailors fifty miles distant will be able to see them, and so chart their course with assurance and safety.

Ouessant island, upon which the new lighthouse will be constructed, was formerly called "the end of the world"; it is known to the mariners of two score nations. In addition it is visited every year by tourists who include Ouessant in their tour of Brittany. The island has a population of about 3,000—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

An Effective Decoration

California Gardeners Draped With Glass Beads And Cotton Snow

A bangsaw in Los Angeles lashed with snow and driftless holly leaves peered during the holidays among the trees and orange blossoms. George Blinn, a horticulturist, has holly in decorating, explained to assembled spectators that the more on the red is a mixture of cornflakes and cotton batting; the leaves are glass: snowflakes on the trees in foam paper.

"I just wanted to give the city a Christmas tree," he said.

A powerful spotlight inside the house peered Christmas decorations and 25 chimes rang when the doorbell rang.

"I was looking out of the dining-room window, and I actually saw a house fly."

"Indeed! I was under the impression that whole houses never die that, and that only the chimney flies."

You will succeed best when you put the restless, anxious side of affairs out of mind, and allow the useful side to live in your thoughts.

New Films of National Parks

Some Fine Examples of Motion Picture Photography

Two new motion picture films have recently been produced by the National Parks Bureau, Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa. Being the titles, "Colourful Days in Prince Albert National Park," and "Playgrounds of the Prairie." These two films are fine examples of motion picture photography, and bring to the screen the scenic, recreational, and wild life features of the National Parks. "Colourful Days in Prince Albert National Park" is a 15-minute visit to Prince Albert National Park in Saskatchewan, while "Playgrounds of the Prairie" depicts the scenic beauty of Riding Mountain National Park in Manitoba. These films have been produced in natural colour, and are also available in black and white.

As a publicity and educational medium the National Parks Bureau possesses a motion picture library containing a great variety of subjects descriptive of the magnificent scenery, recreational advantages, and scientific interest of the National Parks. The library contains 84 subjects, comprising more than 1,500 prints, and all subjects are available on 16mm, 35mm, and 10mm sizes. These films are lent to conservation societies, universities, schools, and libraries, and are also available to individuals and groups interested in wild life conservation and making known the many attractions of Canada's national playgrounds.

New subjects are constantly being added to the National Parks film library, and the increasing demand for films reflects the growing interest in Canada's National Parks. The medium of motion pictures the beauties and attractions of these great recreational areas. The films are lent throughout the whole world. National Parks films are now in circulation in the United States, Great Britain, France, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Norway, Greece, Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii, South Africa, and the British West Indies, as well as throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Askins And Other Life In Emotional Terms

That annoying case of the cold may be due to your mother and that stubborn cold probably was caused by a row with your mother-in-law, the Chicago Institute for psychoanalysis declared. The report, following five years of investigation of the influence of psychological factors upon physical disturbances, said:

"The fact that asthma attacks can be demonstrated to be allergic reactions has tended to distract attention from many rounded testimony of asthma attacks precipitated by acute emotional conflict."

"Asthma attacks regularly occur in reaction to emotional situations which seem to threaten the patient with loss of the love of some person upon whom he is emotionally dependent."

Helium For Germany
Export of 17,500,000 cubic feet Authorized By United States State Department

The State Department at Washington has authorized an agent of the German Zeppelin Company to export 17,500,000 cubic feet of helium. The authorization, paving the way for resumption of the party flights between Germany and the United States next spring, recalled the explosion of the German airship Hindenburg at Lakehurst, N.J., last May.

The Hindenburg was inflated with highly explosive hydrogen gas. Dr. Hugo Eckener, the German Zeppelin builder, urged this country to release some of the non-inflammable helium on which the United States has a virtual monopoly.

The authorization was granted to the American Zeppelin Transport Inc. of New York, as agent for the German company. The gas is wanted for use in a new Zeppelin, the LZ-130.

Dream Of The Future

Miracles That Are Promoted At Some Future Date

Including a gift for prophecy, a wish in one of the popular magazines enumerates some of the miracles promised for the future, as, for instance:

Transmuting electricity by radio. A two-hour work day. No visiting. People will stay at home and call on their friends by television. Taxicabs will have wings. Mail-chunks will bring letters direct to your home. The average person will live to be 150.

He would be a bold man who would dismiss these predictions as being impossible and absurd. All are modern marvels, commonplace to us to-day, were foreshadowed by the ancients in their old stories which were called "airy-fairy."

What, for instance, is the airplane but the modern tangible expression of the "magic carpet" which antiquated stage?—And the electric push-button which releases power for us at our leisure is the modern "genie" of the Aladdin's Lamp of the centuries gone by.

Science has said, and it is not too grossly an exaggeration, that whatever man can dream, man can achieve. It is an optimistic and encouraging thought.

Even the world's dream of universal peace will one day see fulfillment.

The man the dreamer is the hope of the race, the Halifax Herald.

Mother Of Lord Tweedsmuir Died At Home In Scotland

Mrs. Helen Kuchan, mother of Lord Tweedsmuir, died recently in Peebles, Scotland.

She was 80 years of age and had been ill for a short time. She came to her home, "Back House," where she lived with her daughter, Anne Kuchan, the novelist, who arrived under the pen name of O. Douglas.

Despite her great age, Mrs. Kuchan travelled to Canada in 1936, to visit Lord Tweedsmuir. She was a devoted worker. In the cause of the sick and poor and a keen supporter of the Scottish League of Women and Mothers. She missed her first meeting of the league in 20 years, just a few days before she died.

She was born on the farm of her father, John Macfarlane, at through John Green and married Rev. John Kuchan when in her teens. Besides Lord Tweedsmuir and Miss Kuchan, the last surviving son, J. W. Kuchan, town clerk of Peebles. Two other children, William, at present a judge in India, and a daughter, predeceased her.

British Army Recruits

Increased Number Are Enrolled Compared To Last Year
Recruits enrolled in the British Regular Army between April 1 and Dec. 31, 1937, totaled 71,951, an increase of 1,372 compared with the same period last year, statistics issued revealed.

The number of recruits enrolled in second week of December totalled 511. It was the first time since 1927 that more than 500 men have joined the ranks during that period. Last year 459 were enrolled during the same week.

Business, too, makes strange bedfellows. A new 3,000-hp. destroyer launched at Loughry, Illinois, and blessed by a priest as it slid down the ways, turned out to have been built for Russia.

Exhibit Of Art Work By Children Shown At Ottawa

Hundreds of persons visited the national gallery at Ottawa to see the annual first exhibition of work by children of 10 cities from New Brunswick to British Columbia. They saw 140 pictures, ranging in style from kindergarten art and drawings of five-year-olds to street scenes, landscapes, and costume studies in water color, crayon, and pastel by boys and girls up to 14 years of age.

The children's work was shown in two galleries. They came from Saint John, N.B.; three Montreal groups, the art gallery of Toronto, the Winnipeg Art Gallery Association, the Edmonton Museum of Arts and the Vancouver art gallery. Outstanding numerically and in quality are contributions from the Montreal groups, the art gallery of Toronto and the Vancouver art gallery.

The exhibition contains pictures of ships, airplanes, automobiles and buildings, and many other subjects. The subjects to their simplest possible terms, drawing home fronts from Canada to France, and other subjects, by perspective, and writing. "This is a house."

One boy, apparently considering the front elevation of the parliament buildings' centre block, has drawn a picture of the whole thing to a one-story school with a stork tower like that of a village tower.

A small boy, depicting the expulsion from Eden, shows an indignant angel pointing the way from above. The angel is a cherub, and the repentant, who is eating red apples, is a cherub, too, followed by a cherub and watched by a cherub.

Lord And Lady Tweedsmuir Chase Unique Greeting Card

The Canadian branch of the Dominion General and Lady Tweedsmuir sent out to Canadian, a pictorial map of the world, red lines showing their travels in 1937. The card is a folder, given by 515 cities. Opposite the greetings is the map, designed by the Dominion of Canada. The "General" red lines trace the vicar's travels through Nova Scotia, from Brunswick to Prince Edward Island, through part of Quebec to Ottawa, identified by the parliament building, and a heavy line, and a trillium. The red line runs westward through Manitoba, across the north, following the Mackenzie river to Alkivi, far beyond the Arctic circle, doubles back, swings over to Great Bear lake and up to Coppermine on Coronation gulf, returning to Edmonton and thence going to the coast.

Made Rare Violins

Trinity Paid Antonio Stradivari Who Died 200 Years Ago

A world-renowned violinist and a world-renowned symphony orchestra joined recently in tribute to the greatest of violin makers, Antonio Stradivari, who died 200 years ago. Playing for this occasion, the orchestra played violin made by Stradivari in 1781. Stradivari's violins performed two concerts in Boston. Serge Koussevitzky conducted.

In Stradivari's long life—he died at the age of 68 in Cremona, Italy—he produced approximately 2,100 instruments, of which nearly one half have been lost. Only about 270 of his instruments are known to exist in the United States. In Europe there are an additional 246—each as completely prized as a thoroughbred horse. Heirloom values his Stradivari at $50,000.

ARTICLE No. 21
Cancer And Fever

The New York Herald-Tribune points out that since cancer is curable if taken in time, thousands of people who now die from every year, might have saved their lives by reasonable care and foresight. "This," the journal says, "is a much more serious matter than requiring education and warning." For this reason there is great promise of the prevention of suffering, death and family tragedy in the crusade just launched by the Women's Field Army against cancer.

There is a mass of propaganda that could be found than to persuade women everywhere to tell other women that lump, sores or unexplained bleedings may be danger signals and that timely consultation of a doctor may save a life.

The vast majority of the fatal cases of cancer, if they had been detected in time, would have been cured.

Fear of cancer is not to be encouraged but one must remember that cancer is unlikely to kill. Cancer, if neglected, is sure to kill. People used to fear tuberculosis. They have got over this fear. They have learned that tuberculosis is a preventable and curable disease.

Sir John Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister after Confederation, was born in Scotland but emigrated to Kingston, Ont., as a boy. His Ottawa home, Elfrinkville, is the residence of the British High Commissioner in Canada.
